The only congregational hymnal for the Traditional Latin Mass.

FOREWORD

The hymns contained in the following pages have been drawn from some of the best available sources. The origins of some of them are not known with any degree of exactitude due to the long and nearly untraceable popular usage to which they have been put. Their long establishment in the repertoire, however, is the best approbation they could have.

The viewpoint of the editors has been that this should be a fundamentally congregational collection in both style and scope. To this end the hymns have been placed in the most convenient voice ranges, and every factor which could enhance the value of the collection as an aid to good congregational hymn-singing has been emphasized.

The value of hymn singing is not to be underestimated. It is one of the most effective means for synthesizing the spirit of a parish or community in public worship. In the singing of a vernacular hymn, the individual and the group merge their intentions and both derive profound spiritual benefits therefrom. As was once said by Dom Columbo Marmion, O.S.B.: "Lend your voice to the Word, that He may use it as His organ to praise the Father." We are convinced that this is precisely the effect on the individual of a tradition of good hymn-singing.

Hymns have been excerpted from the following Gregorian Institute publications: Catholic Hymns by Rev. John C. Selner, S.S., Christ the King Hymnal by Rev. A. F. Knauff, V.F., Mediator Dei Hymnal by Cyr de Brant. We also wish to acknowledge the use of the hymn "O Holy Joseph" which has been arranged for unison singing from the three-part setting found in Our Lady of the Lake Hymnal and Choir Book, composed by Sister Mary Elaine, C.D.P., and published by the Gregorian Institute. A unison arrangement has been made of this setting. We also wish to express our gratitude to McLaughlin and Reilly Co., Boston, Massachusetts, for kind permission to use the hymn "Mary the Dawn" from the Pius X Hymnal.

Two of the hymns have been newly edited. These are number 11, "Jesus Christ Is Risen Today," for which the music has been arranged, and number 15, "God, Father, be Thou Praised," which has been newly translated from the German and for which a new accompaniment has been provided.

Lastly, we wish to thank the members of the Community which has made this publication possible, the Sisters of St. Joseph, of Brentwood, New York, and the compiler, Sister Catherine Cecilia, C.S.J. The adoption of these hymns for their use in the many schools served by this community will be the means of carrying this excellent standard of hymn-singing to thousands of young people who will eventually become the standard-bearers of the tastes and traditions of their generation.

8. At the Cross Her Station Keeping

TR. UNKNOWN
Mode VI

T.: JACOPONE DE BENEDICTIS (1225-1306)
M.: GREGORIAN CHANT (C. XIII CENT.)

1. At the Cross her sta - tion keep - ing,
2. Thru her heart, His sor - row shar - ing,

Stood the mourn - ful Moth - er weep - ing,
All His bit - ter an - guish bear - ing,

Close to Je - sus to the last.
Lo! the pierc - ing sword has passed.

3. O, how sad, and sore distressed,
Now was she, that Mother blessed
Of the sole begotten One.
4. Woe begone, with heart's prostration,
Mother meek, the bitter Passion
Saw she of her glorious Son.
5. Who could mark, from tears refraining,
Christ's dear Mother, uncomplaining,
In so great a sorrow bowed?

6. Who, unmoved behold her languish,
Underneath His cross of anguish,
'Mid the fierce, un pitying crowd?
7. For His people's sins rejected,
She, her Jesus, unprotected,
Saw with thorns, with scourges rent.
8. Saw her Son from judgment taken,
Her beloved in death forsaken
Till His Spirit forth He sent.
9. Fount of love and holy sorrow,
Mother, may my spirit borrow
Somewhat of thy woe profound.
10. Unto Christ, with pure emotion,
Raise my contrite heart's devotion,
Love to read in ev'ry wound.
11. Those five wounds on Jesus smitten,
Mother! in my heart be written,
Deep as in thine own they be.
12. Thou, my Saviour's Cross who bearest,
Thou thy Son's rebuke who sharest,
Let me share them both with thee!
13. In the Passion of my Maker,
Be my sinful soul partaker,
Weep till death, and keep with thee.
14. When my earthly frame shall perish,
Grant around my soul to flourish
Eden's joys that never fade.
